UNCLE SAM ON TOBOGGAN.

Yesterday's Better Prices Were Not Maintained-Metal Market the Cause of Much Disquietude.

The mining share market was undeniably weak this morning. Without exception stocks ruled at lower figures than obtained yesterday and generally closed at the lowest figures of the call. Trading resulted in transactions involving little more than $14,000 and no fewer than 19 stocks participated.

A prominent broker said while on the exchange, "There are no outside orders to speak of and traders are afraid to operate on account of the uncertainty of the metal market. Not a few people believe that silver will be manipulated to considerably lower figures than are

Uncle Sam was again the feature and today fell very rapidly from 39% to 37% on sales aggregating nearly 20,000 shares. The narrow market permits of more easy manipulation and there is no doubt that the professional element is thoroughly in control of the present market. At the close the following quotations

Liberal Treatment.

Washington, May 6 .- When Representative Tongue of Oregon came to the government. He secured legislation relative to the management of two ried out his ideas as to how the red man should be treated, which was that more liberal treatment in the management of their own affairs. He did not believe in the idea that the Indian should have set over him a perpetual watched the experiment in Oregon that the Indian appropriation bill this year contains a provision authorizing the Indian office to adopt similar measures where the Indian has made advances toward civilization. The idea giving the Indian more responsibility has been vigoreusly opposed by those who feared that the white neighbors would get the better of him if he should be given his money and allowed to manage his own business.

STUBBORN CONFERENCE. There are a long drawn out confer-There are a long drawn out conference and a stubborn fight going on day after day over the river and harbor bill. McMillan of Michigan, Elkins of West Virgina and Berry of 'Arkansas are the "irresistible body" that meets with Burton of Ohio, Reeves of Illinois and Lester of Georgia, the "immovable obstacle." For a long time neither side would budge. The house conferees said their bill was complete. conferees said their bill was complete as it passed, the senate conferees said they had greatly improved it, and nel ther side would yield. But the bill will not be lost. It would be impossible to defeat a measure in the long session carrying $70,000,000 properly distributed throughout the country. ABOUT PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

There was more or less interest about the omnibus public building bill. The way Dave Mercer of Nebraska had it all worked out showed cleverness on his part. Quite a number of members expressed dissatisfaction over their treatment, even those who had a bit of "pork" in the "barrel," but to each Mercer replied, and in nearly every case he showed that the towns had all been fairly well treated. In the report which Mercer submitted with the bill were some interesting features. It was shown that the building at New Orleans had settled in the earth about three feet since it was first erected. He also recalled some interesting facts about the building at Richmond, Va. to which there is to be an addition. This building was erected in 1858 and was used for four years by the Confederacy. Jefferson Davis and Robert E. Lee were frequently about the building during that time. Afterward Davis was tried in that building when the United States resumed control of it. Representative Sibley of Pennsylvania made an interesting statement regarding public buildings. He said that the postoffice committee found it necessary to appropriate $8,000,000 for annual rental of buildings used by postoffices. TILT WITH WILLIAMS.

During the consideration of the hill Mercer and Williams of Illinois had a little tilt. Williams is one of those plain men who run a race with Eddy of Minnesota for being the homeliest man in the house. He expressed the ope that "this would be the last time 75 or 200 buildings would be linked together so that those with merit would oull through those who had none. Mercer asked him if he was in favor of economy, and Williams said the Neraska man was simply trying to have little fun in order to get his through.

retorted Mercer, "I was trying to make fun of the gentleman from Illinois, I would show his picture would not say anything about him. "Oh," responded Williams, "it is admitted by all the members of the house that the gentleman from Nebraska is one of the handsomest men that ever came to Congress—exceedingly hand-some—and I do not have to prove it because the gentleman from Nebraska admits it."

And the house laughed.

WITHOUT PROBATION. A delegation representing & church organization called upon Senator Han-na and asked him to attend a certain function, when he would be required to make a short speech. "I can't make a speech on religion," remarked Senator Hanna. "You won't need to," was the reply. "You will only be asked to talk ten minutes, and you can speak on almost any subject you think ppropriate. Senator Dolliver n asked and will speak ten minutes also," "Well," responded Hanna, "if there are only 20 minutes and Dolliver is to talk he'll occupy all that time." Then he went into the senate and told

It also reminded him that he had once entertained a number of high dignitaries of the Methodist church in his Cleveland home. As they were leaving, one bishop in expressing his thanks said, "I think we can do nothing better to show our appreciation than to admit Mr. Hanna to the church without probation." The suggestion was put to a vote and unanimously carried, and the Ohio senator says that he is a member in good standing.

Declares That Lowe and Sowles Knew Taxes for 1897 Had Not Been Abated-Bore Expenses Alone.

Spencer Clawson has filed an answer and cross complaint in the district court, to the complaint filed against Washington, he began immediately to him by George A. Lowe, M. B. Sowles urge a change in the Indian policy of and Don Carlos Roberts, executors of the estate of the late Bolivar Roberts. In his answer Mr. Clawson acknowlreservations in his state which car- edges to the agreement entered into between himself and the late Bolivan Roberts, as to the joint ownership of individual Indians should be given the right-of-way on First South street known as Broadway. He also admits that the property was not taxed for several years prior to 1897, but in that year it was sold for taxes by the guardian. The Indian office has county, and was acquired by the Houston Real Estate and Investment comwith interest, and the result has been | pany; that he, Mr. Clawson bought it of the said company for the consideration of $1,250.25, and that the quit claim deed was recorded in the recorder's office on January 16, 1902.

The defendant further states that he endeavored, in conjunction with the plaintiffs, to have the taxes for the year 1897 abated, but they were not abated, moreover he alleges that the plaintiffs knew at the time that they were not abated, and instead of acquirwere not abated, and instead of acquiring the property by fraud or any indirect way, he declares that he spoke to Mr. Lowe asking him to assist in the paying of the taxes, and Mr. Lowe put him off or referred him to Mr. Sowles, and when he would go to the latter he would put him off by saying that Mr. Roberts would be home soon and would attend to the matter, Mr. Clawson positively denies that either of the plaintiffs at any time believed that the taxes had been abated for the year 1897, and denies that they did not know that the request for abatement had been refused, or that the defendant kept the knowledge to himself. He affirms that the defendant had been the knowledge to himself. firms that the two plaintiffs refused to concern themselves with the care or improvement of the property. Mr. Clawson sets up his right to the Mr. Clawson sets up his right to the Broadway right of way by citing a suit against himself and plaintiffs by the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company and George Y. Wallace in 1857, claiming a right of way over Broadway; that the defendant fought the suit alone and won it and that the plaintiffs refused to pay any part of the expenses of the suit which were over $600. It is further set up that in 1888 the defendant put in a water way 1888 the defendant put in a water w over Broadway at a cost of $350; in 1890 he put in a sidewalk on the east side of Broadway at a cost of $417.74, of which amount the plaintiffs paid only $100. In 1902 the defendant, it is alleged, installed a sewer on the premises at a cost of $427, which expenses he had to bear alone, the plaintiffs refus-ing to pay any part of them. He ad-mits that he went to some of the plaintiff's tenants and urged them to b more prompt in paying their rent, but was not acting as agent for plaintiffs, nor did he receive any portion of the rent. The answer also makes the statemer that as a joint owner in the property on Broadway, the defendant was entitled to a portion of the rental received from the Utah Plumbing and Supply ompany, who have been the tenants loes not know the exact amount of ental paid by the plumbing company the believes it to be about $60 per month, he has never received one cent o portion due him as joint owner of property.

In his counter claim Mr. Clawson sets forth the above allegations and the sums of money he claims to have spen! n protecting his title to and improving the property, and he asks that an accounting of all the expenses be ordered by the court and that the plaintiffs be equired to pay all the money that is ue him.
